

Please accept these comments as my sincere desire to keep "The Indiana's Telephone Privacy" law in effect as it has been the most effective method for unwanted phone calls. While the Consumer Bankers Association (CBA) has chosen to challenge Indiana's Telephone Privacy law in a proceeding before the Federal Communications Commission (FCC), any changes in the current law will create an unwanted environment throughout our State that is a violation of our rights to privacy. Your immediate dismissal of the case CBA is attempting to initiate, is in direct violation of our rights and I personally object. Please consider that the approximately (1) year that we have had that law into effect, my own families person home invasions by telemarketers, (whom I would consider the CBA) to drop 99%. That is not only an effective law, but one that needs to stay on the books as a measure against those who abuse the telemarketing game, such as CBA. Thanks for your attention to this matter.
